Social Distancing in the Workplace - how we can help

In light of recent Scottish Government announcements beginning to address a return to our workplaces, it is clear that this will be a gradual and incremental process.

Whether you occupy office, retail, warehouse or industrial premises it is likely that some form of alteration to your working practices or physical building alterations may require to be undertaken in the short term to comply with continued social distancing measures for some time to come.

The Building Consultancy team at FG Burnett are on hand to assist you in this process and specifically in the following areas:

- Workplace review/Space Planning
- Workplace redesign/adaptation
- Assessing if alterations/adaptations require Local Authority Consent
- Applying for any required Local Authority Consents
- Advising on any other Legal implications of adaptations
- Advising on potential lease implications of adaptations

It is clear that the needs of each business will have to be carefully considered on an individual basis. Should you have any questions or simply wish to discuss the above then please contact our Building Consultancy Team.

For further information or advice please contact our Head of Building Consultancy, Jim Johnstone:
